

Specially designed to teach your young child to read!

The Three Little Pigs

Little Reader™
Storybook Series

brillkids™
www.brillkids.com

This book belongs to:

“It is time for you to make your own homes,” Mother Pig said to her three little pigs. “You are ready to be on your own.”

The three little pigs hugged their mother and went into the world.

The first little pig built his house out of straw.

The second little pig built her house out
of wood.

The third little pig built his house out of bricks.

The little pigs were very happy until one day a hungry wolf came into town.

The wolf went to the house of the first little pig and said, "Little pig, little pig, let me in!"

But the little pig said, "Oh no, Mr. Wolf! I won't let you in!"

The wolf said, "Then I'll blow and I'll blow and I'll blow your house in!" The wolf huffed, and puffed and with a mighty breath he blew down the first little pig's straw house. But the first little pig ran to his sister's house and was saved.

The wolf went to the house of the second little pig and said, "Little pig, little pig, let me in!"

But the little pigs said, "Oh no, Mr. Wolf! We won't let you in!"

The wolf said, "Then I'll blow and I'll blow and I'll blow your house in!" The wolf huffed, and puffed and with a mighty breath he blew down the second little pig's wood house. But the first and the second little pigs ran to their brother's house and were saved.

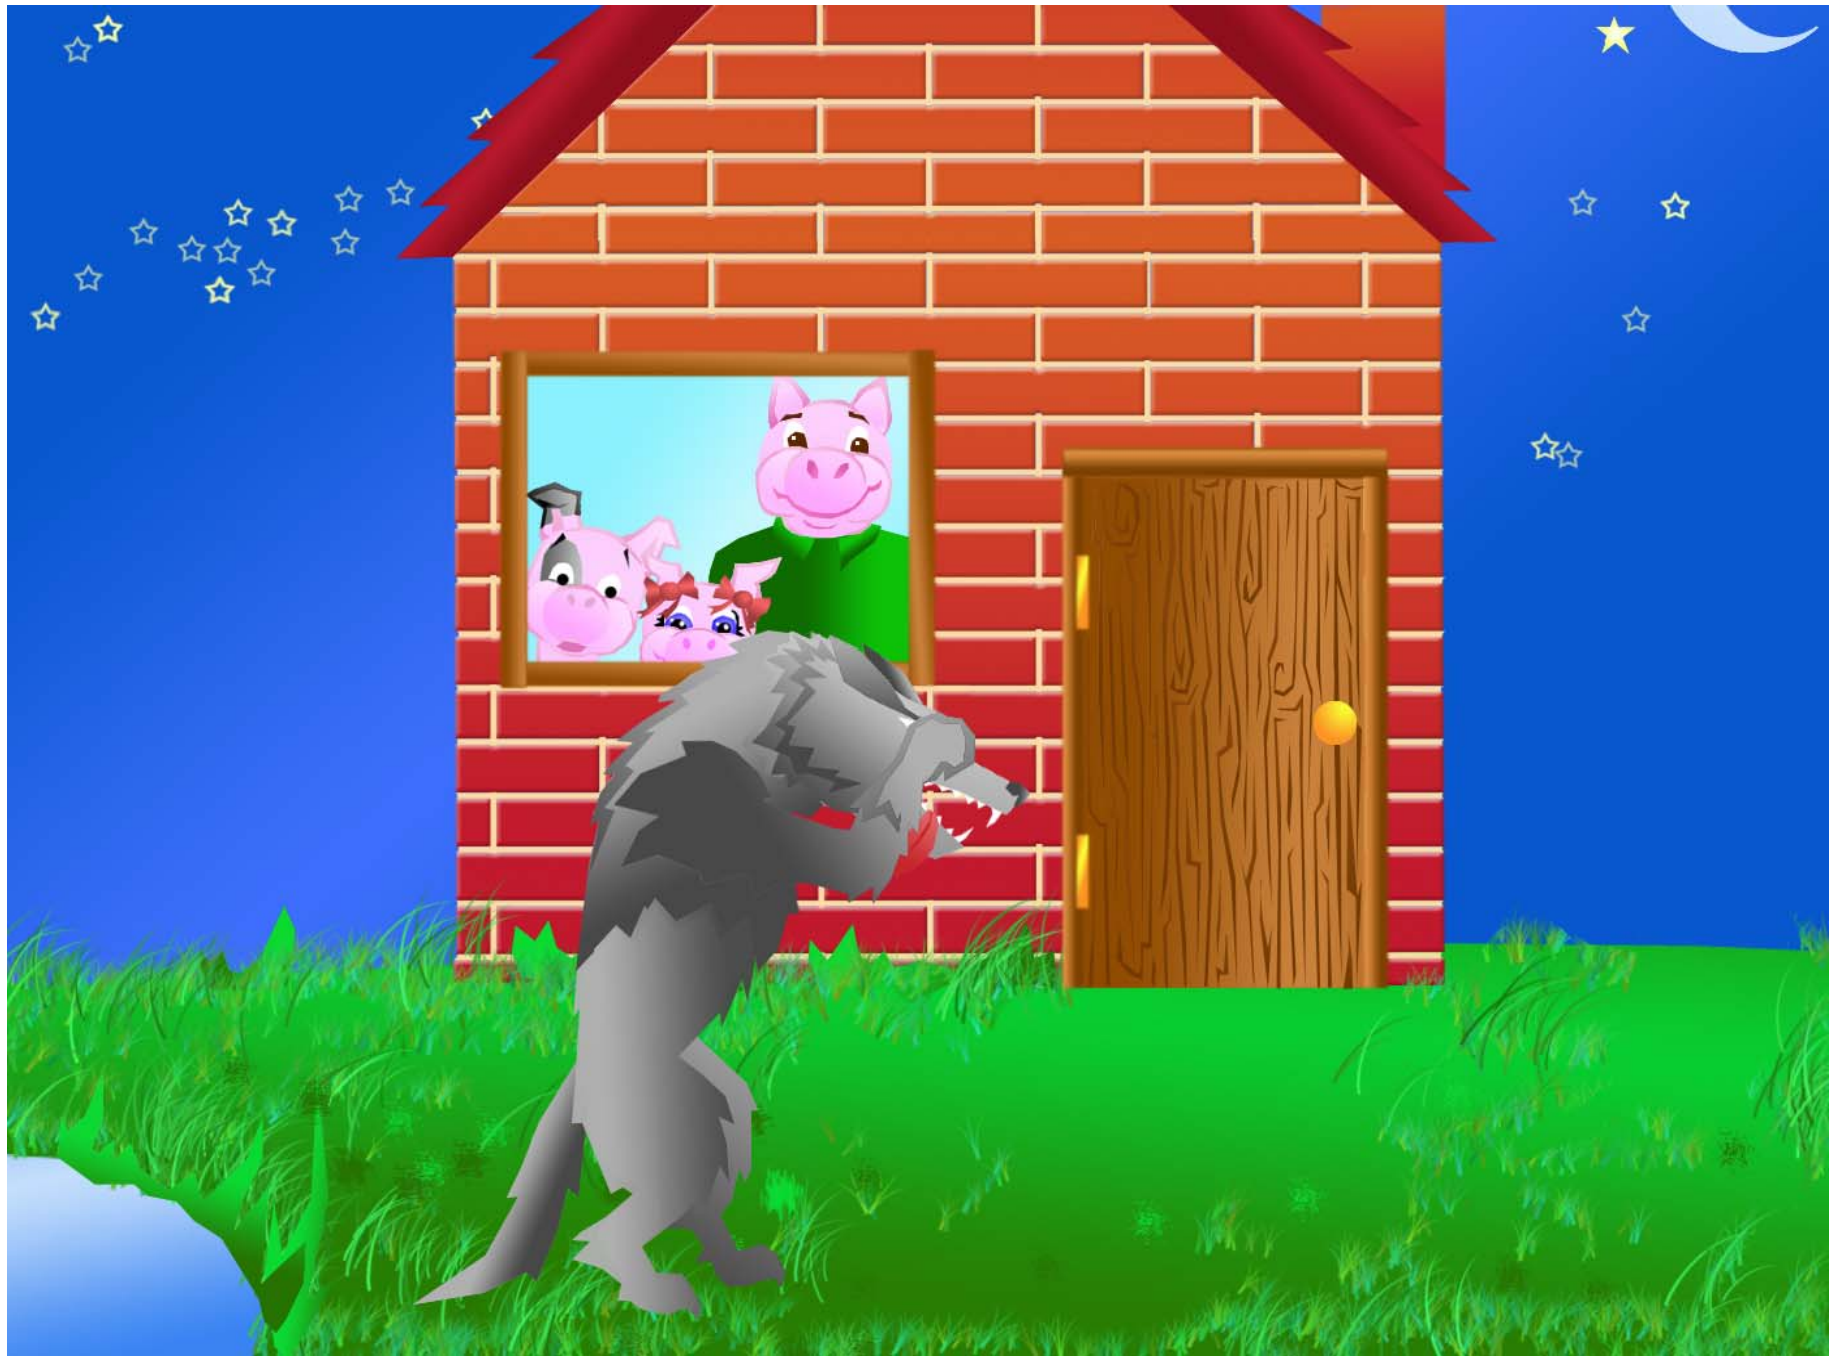

The wolf went to the house of the third little pig and said, "Little pig, little pig, let me in!"

But the little pigs said, "Oh no, Mr. Wolf! We won't let you in!"

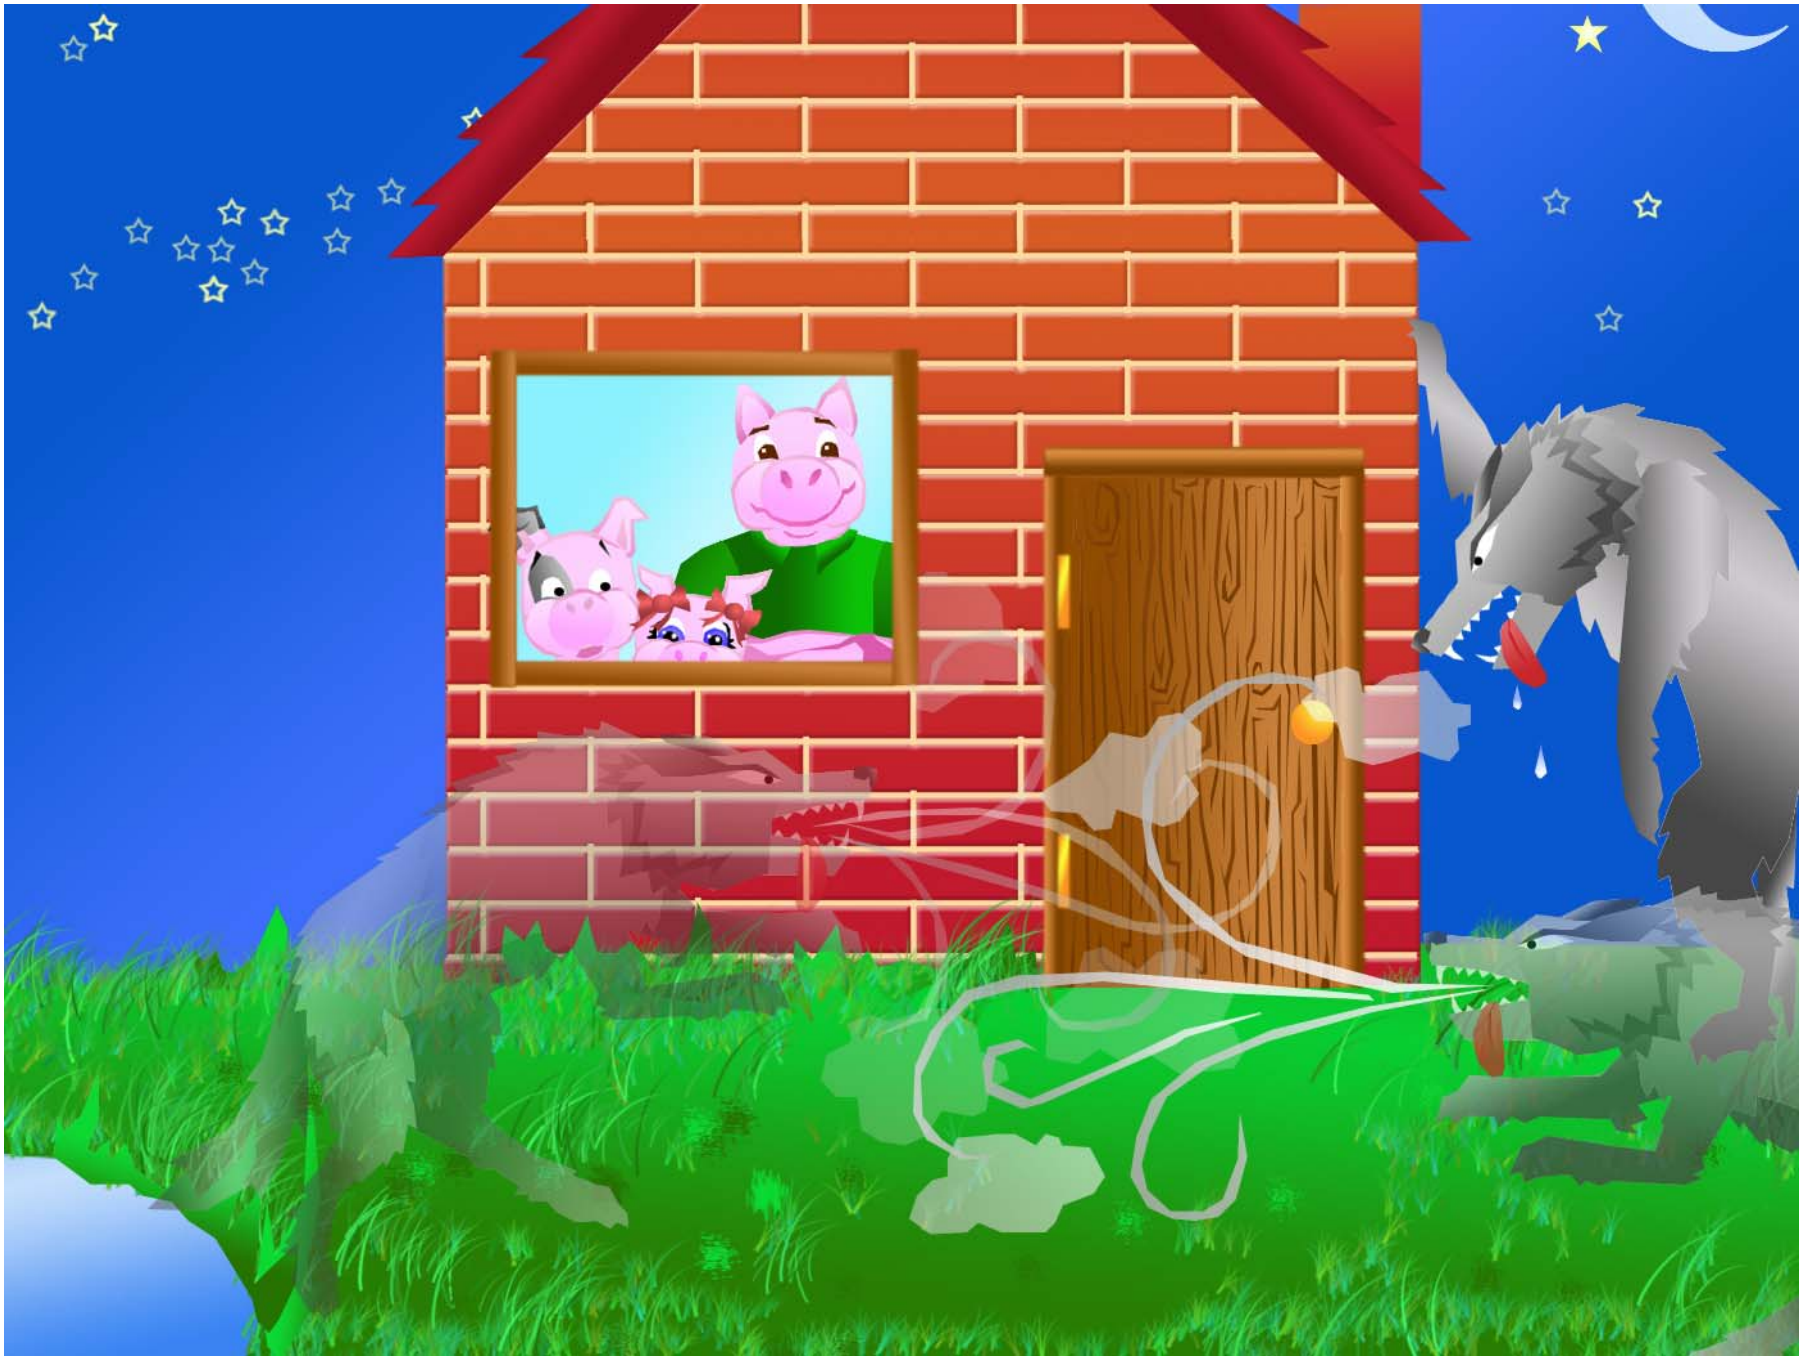

The wolf said, "Then I'll blow and I'll blow and I'll blow your house in!" The wolf huffed, and puffed and blew a mighty breath.

But the brick house stood strong.

The wolf tried again, and again, and again. But he couldn't blow down the brick house.

He tried to trick the little pigs.

“Oh, please, little pigs, I’m a thirsty old granny. Won’t you open the door and let me in?”

But the pigs could see the truth and kept the door shut tight.

The wolf sneaked around the house and looked for another way in. He saw a chimney. He climbed up onto the roof.

In the house the pigs could hear the wolf on the roof. They put a pot of water on the fire and waited.

The wolf jumped down the chimney and right into the hot pot of water.

“Ouch!” the wolf said. The wolf jumped out of the pot so fast he shot back up the chimney.

The three little pigs
surprised the wolf so much that he never came back to their town again.

For more children's stories, flash cards and other free downloadable materials, please visit

 <http://www.brillkids.com>

The most powerful tool available to teach your child to read!

© 2009 BrillKids Inc. All rights reserved.

The Three Little Pigs

 The BrillKids Little Reader Storybook Series is designed to help very young children learn to read. Key features include presenting text separately from illustrations and highlighting words from BrillKids' Little Reader curriculum. Turn to the welcome message at the beginning for more information and tips on how to make best use of this book.

Specially designed to teach your young child to read!

 brillkids[™]
www.brillkids.com

From the creators of the Little Reader Learning System[™]